Flow cytometry has been proposed as a new approach to study the role of phagocytosis in the cell-mediated immunity to Mycobacterium tuberculosis. The available flow cytometry techniques are based on the detection of phagocytosed particles that have become fluorescent after internalization. In the current paper the effect of the flow channel on the internalization of particles and subsequent flow cytometry analysis was investigated. In addition to yeast, the recent literature on the subject was reviewed.// Code generated by go-swagger; DO NOT EDIT. package dashboard // This file was generated by the swagger tool. // Editing this file might prove futile when you re-run the swagger generate command import ("net/http" "github.com/go-openapi/errors" "github.com/go-openapi/runtime/middleware" "github.com/go-openapi/strfmt" "github.com/go-openapi/swag" "github.com/go-openapi/validate") // NewCreateConfigVersionsMiddleFuncya API operation for creating config versions // // swagger:model createConfigVersions type CreateConfigVersionsHandlerF func(CreateConfigVersionsParams) middleware.Responder // Handle executing the request and returns a response func (fn) Handle(params CreateConfigVersionsParams) middleware.Resp.Resp { if http.Handler!= nil { return middleware.New
